Accessibility Policies

Policies

It is the policy of Rogers Hospitality and its component properties (Waring House/Claramount Inn/Picton Harbour Inn) to provide inclusive accessibility to all public access areas of our facilities.

We will strive to accommodate the needs of all customers and to be sensitive to their needs and to anticipate any barriers to complete accessibility. We will make every reasonable effort to provide our customer with service that complies with the 4 principles set out: independence, dignity, integration and equal opportunity.

Where an unanticipated barrier is identified personnel will work with the customer to provide an acceptable alternative solution.

If accessibility is temporarily unavailable we will post a notice on our website and post a notice on the door of the affected facility.

Personnel of all of our facilities will be trained in the requirements of the AODA. Personnel will be trained to be aware of accessibility challenges, both visible and invisible, and to provide service that respects the customer's dignity.

Policies and Procedures are available on our website and in a binder at the office of the Manager and are available on request.

Training

All Frontline personnel will review the training video and manual on the first active day after being hired and then every 6 months on the first shift following the 1st of January and the 1st of June. Dept managers will be responsible for assuring that training has been reviewed and that all personnel under their supervision have signed off on having completed the requirement. Managers will review with their personnel the specific situations that could be anticipated in their area and the acceptable procedure.

Front Desk

Mobility Challenges

- Be sure guests can access the check-in area or provide an acceptable alternative.
- Chairs are placed in Front Desk reception area to allow guests who are unable to stand for a period of time a comfortable area to wait and/or complete the check in or check out procedure.

Vision Challenges

- Magnifying glasses and/or large print versions of the documents (registration card/ passport/ invoice can be made available to an customer who would like it.

- FD personnel can write the Room # in large print on the passport to make it easier for the customer. This may also be useful for the invoice total.

Hearing Challenges

- Personnel should be sensitive to a guest's inability to clearly hear their directions.
- Be prepared to speak more loudly and slowly and to write the information for the customer if this makes it easier for them.

Mental Challenges

- Mental challenges may be more difficult for personnel to identify. It is important to accommodate the guest's challenge while still allowing them to receive the service with dignity.
- It is best to always provide the information that the guest needs in a slow, orderly logical manner so that it can be easily followed by anyone. Where possible point to a printed explanation. Be prepared to repeat the information for the customer (as many times as necessary) until they are comfortable that they understand.

Restaurants

Mobility Challenges

- Direct customer to the best entrance for access.
- Prepare seating to accommodate assistive devices.
- In some cases it may be best to store mobility devices away from the table so all personnel should be aware of this location and attentive to the customer's need for its return.
- Be aware that some customers may be unable to stand to wait for a table. Offer alternative seating while they wait.

Vision Challenges

- (as for FD)
- Offer magnifying glass or be prepared to read printed material (menu/bill)

Hearing Challenges

(as for FD)

- Be prepared to speak slowly and loudly and to repeat as necessary.
- Be sure you are facing the customer and that they can see your mouth.

Mental Challenges

- Mental challenges may not be visible but may make it difficult for a customer to understand the information or to retain it.
- Be prepared to make the information simple and to walk them through to a decision. In some cases it may be advisable to write out their order and leave a copy with them.
- Mental challenges can present in many ways so be sensitive and always act to give the customer dignity.
